Top Level Steel Talks Begin Again

NEW YORK (UPI)—Top level industry-wide steel negotiations were resumed today in an effort to agree on a new contract and prevent a possible strike at 12:01 a.m. July 1.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers Union, and R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of U.S. Steel Corporation—the two top negotiators—posed for pictures in a friendly manner just before the conference was called to order.

Smoking a cigar, the tall, bald, quiet-mannered Cooper told newsmen he had nothing new to report.

The pipe smoking, silver-haired McDonald, when asked if he had anything new to say, smiled and remarked:

"Well, I had dinner last night with Tom Kennedy, the United Mine Workers vice president, whose men got a $2 a day raise a few months ago. Kennedy is sailing today for Europe."

Asked if Wednesday's and Thursday's sessions of union and management on local problems in the 12 major steel plants that would be affected by a strike, had put the top-level committee in a better position to bargain, McDonald replied:

"All I will say regarding the 12-company bargaining meetings was that the mission was accomplished."

Evening!

Summer still playing coy.

Yet, with all of those storms busting around in the South, maybe we're fortunate.

More fortunate we'd be if the weatherman would get those swimming pools working for the kids again.

The last of the famous Barrymores, the last of the truly great ladies of the stage whose name will be a memory long after most of the present-day greats are forgotten.

Russia still delaying an answer on the West's compromise plan on Berlin and it seems Secretary of State Herter has laid down the challenge excellently well.

Moscow must show it at least desires progress at Geneva. Otherwise, Herter and company have their plane ready for home. Pretty neat hush-trading, we'd say, and if the Moscovites want that summit conference as badly as Khrushchev has been indicating, they'd better get on the ball.

World really has its hands full with this Communist conspiracy.

Let's see, now. We've been fighting it for the past 40 years and there doesn't appear even an outside chance we won't be fighting it for another 140.

Bridge Employees' Raise Is Defeated By 1 Vote Margin

By ANTHONY PATTERSON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

William R. Johnson, acting executive director of the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission, along with 33 others, lost his chance for a raise this month, at a commission meeting yesterday.

A resolution to grant the 34 employees salary boosts, was defeated by one vote, even though a majority approved the move. John P. Fullam, Pennsylvania representative who voted against the measure stated that, "it is not that I do not favor the raises proposed, it is only that I would like more time to give the matter further study until the next meeting."

The commission will meet again on July 16 at Philadelphia. In a resolution proposed by commission member, Richard Eisenhower and seconded by Herbert D. Stem, the acting director's salary would have been elevated from $12,000 to $13,500. Other salary boosts were requested for Chief Engineer Edwin W. Denzler and engineers James Hillman and Robert Lane.

Proposed Boosts
Denzler's salary would be upped from $14,000 to $15,000; Hillman's from $9,300 to $9,500 and Lane from $7,750 to $8,000, if the resolution had been approved.

The final tally on the voting showed four New Jersey and two Pennsylvania delegates favoring the raises. In order to pass the resolution, the commission must have three votes of approval from each of the two states.

Johnson in a report to the commission, stated that pigeon droppings were once more causing damage to the river bridges.

He said that the order would go out to begin the pigeon shoot again. A few months ago when pigeons on the bridges were causing damage, through corrosion of metals, some 300 were killed under a bridge commission order.

Trucker Given $19,960 In Tire Blow Up Case

A Bucks County Civil Court jury yesterday awarded $19,960.05 to an up-state truck driver who was injured while his trailer tire exploded while being repaired in a Newtown garage.

The jury deliberated two hours, after a three-day trial, before deciding in favor of Robert Klusko, 24, of McAdoo. Klusko sued Gaine-Murfit Inc., then owners of an automobile dealership and garage on South State St.

It was the second time the case came to trial. Earlier this year a jury was unable to reach a verdict after six hours, and a mistrial resulted.

Klusko said the accident happened Nov. 16, 1956, after he got a flat tire while driving a tractor-trailer loaded with coal from Tamaqua to Beverly, N. J. He got a flat tire first in Doylestown, he said, then the same tire went flat near Newtown.

Klusko said the Gaine-Murfit garage agreed to fix the tire and said he needed a new tube. The driver said Lee Forsythe, 22, of Woodside, changed the tube and mounted the tire on the rim.

He said Forsythe was called away while inflating the tire. Klusko said in the absence of the mechanic, he applied a gauge to check the pressure and was knock-

Power Off For 1½ Hrs.

Over 800 homes in three sections of Levittown were without electricity for an hour and a half this morning as the result of an automobile accident.

The electricity blackout caused scores of Levittowners from the Cobalt Ridge, Lower Orchard, and Quincy Hollow sections to be late for work today.

Rams Into Pole

According to police, the power failure was caused when a car driven by Joseph E. Kehow, 37, of 218 Plumridge Drive, Levittown, rammed into a utility pole on Newportville Road, at 4:45 a.m.

Patrolman James Klein, Middletown Township police, estimated damage to Kehow's car at $700. He said the driver will be charged with driving too fast for conditions.

In another Middletown Township accident this morning, two motorists were injured and their car wrecked when it collided into the cinder pile at the dead end of the Super Highway.

Carter R. Hagerman, 79, the driver, of 124 North Congress St., Newtown, was treated at Lower Bucks County Hospital for lacerations of the face and chest injuries.

Face Lacerations

Elwyn Nelson, 31, a George School student, was in the car. He was treated for multiple lacerations of the face and both knees.

Patrolman Stephen Ambrose, Middletown Township police, said Hagerman would be charged with driving through a stop sign.

Boy's Condition Good After Bicycle Mishap

Douglas Butterworth, 7, of 420 Holly Drive, Levittown, is reported in good condition in Lower Bucks County Hospital after he was hit by a car on Newportville Road yesterday. The hospital reports he has possible internal injuries.

Bristol Township police said the boy was riding his bicycle near Wistar Road when he was struck. Patrolman Harry Smith identified the driver of the car as Mrs. Carmen O'Brien, 29, of 30 Linwood Road, Lower Orchard, Levittown.

Smith said that witnesses report the boy was riding with a companion and suddenly turned in front of Mrs. O'Brien's car. The boy said he started to follow his friend across the road and did not see the car.

Mill Creek Road To Reopen Soon

The section of Mill Creek Road between Green Lane and Bristol Oxford Valley should be reopened to traffic in about a week when the reconstruction project is completed.

The Bristol Township Board of Commissioners is having the nearly one mile stretch of road widened and rebuilt. The work is being done by the Saba Construction Company, of Hultmeville.

The road has been closed to traffic for several weeks. Joseph Saba, head of the firm, said the work should be done before the end of next week.

The stone base and a binder course of black topping has been laid. Workers are now putting in stone for the six foot shoulders.

When this is done they will put a finish or wearing course of black topping. The road, exclusive of the shoulders, is 24 feet wide except in front of the Woodrow Wilson High School. Here the road will be 30 feet wide with shoulders only on one side.

Saba said that as soon as he finishes Mill Creek Road he will shift his men to Bristol-Emilie (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

Coyle Reenacts Crime, Goes To Prison To Await Trial

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — John J. Coyle, 24, was to be lodged in Moyamensing Prison today to await his murder trial in the fatal shooting of Patrolman James F. Kane, who surprised Coyle and his brother stealing milk near their North Philadelphia hideout June 5.

Authorities said there would be no need to arraign Coyle on the murder charges since he previously had been arraigned and indicted in absentia.

The slaying of the 33-year-old policeman touched off a 12-day, crime-marked flight that ended in a wooded area near Middleboro, Mass., where Coyle surrendered seconds after his brother, William, 22, fell fatally wounded in a shower of police bullets.

Upon his return here last night, Coyle was taken directly to the quiet, tree-lined street and calmly twice directed the re-enactment of the murder in which he said his brother pumped five bullets into the policeman after being surprised stealing a bottle of milk.

The re-staging of the crime had the aspects of a movie production. Portable lights lit up the entire block, cameramen recorded every movement of the "actors" as some 2,000 curious spectators were held off by police lines.

District Attorney Victor H. Blanc said he had enough evidence for a first degree verdict and would seek a speedy trial of Coyle, pressing "for the electric chair."

Mary Alice Duffy, an attorney hired by friends of the Coyles, charged she was given an "outrageous run-around" in her efforts to see Coyle and get information on the case.

Coyle Tipsters Receive Threat Note

MIDDLEBORO, Mass. (UPI)—State police today investigated a threatening note received by a former New Jersey couple who spotted the Coyle brothers outside their home here Wednesday.

The note was postmarked in Boston Wednesday, the day William Coyle, 22, was slain and his brother John, 24, was captured by state troopers.

"You will be dead before they get to court," the note said.

It was addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmidt, who moved here Monday from Union City, N. J. Seeing the Philadelphia fugitives crawling past their house, the Schmidts telephoned police and the capture-slaying followed minutes later.

The note apparently was written before the fatally wounded younger brother died at a hospital. It was postmarked only a few minutes after radio stations flashed news of the capture. William lived for an hour and a half.

More Cold, Rain Due

June refused to act like anything but October today with more cool and rainy weather forecast over the weekend.

This morning's low was a perfectly chilly fall reading of 56 and temperatures are not expected to pass 70 today.

Tomorrow's weather will be wet and chilly like today with similar temperatures.

Showers are likely again Sunday with more cool temperatures. Summer may bring an end to all this chilly foolishness when it comes officially to Lower Bucks at 11:50 p.m. Sunday night.

This morning's low was registered at 6 a.m. and yesterday's high was 70 at 5 p.m.

The United States Navy has moved some of its latest equipment into the Levittown Shopping Center for public display. The display is sponsored by the Levittown Businessmen's Association and will be held today and tomorrow. A United States Navy band will

Concert Set Tomorrow By Naval Band

The Levittown Businessmen's Association and its member merchants will play host to the Fourth Naval District band tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. when the band will play a concert on the mall of the Levittown Shop-A-Rama.

Under the direction of Bandmaster Cecil Strange, chief musician, USN, the Fourth Naval District band's main purpose is to provide music for all military honors and ceremonies, religious services, recreation and public relations which will reflect credit upon the command and the naval service.

In addition to these services, the band is also available for radio and television shows, concerts at various schools, parades, picnics, parties and dances that fall under the heading of Service-connected functions, a spokesman said.

The district band, better known to its members as Band unit 14, can march and play hundreds of parade tunes, sit in concert arrangements for a full evening of popular and classical tunes, or be divided into two combos for dancing.

Such a diversified bit of talent can be traced to the fact that the band's membership includes Navy career musicians who have had many years of Naval band experience, and younger lads, who have added their previous civilian musical knowledge to the group.

All members of the district band are graduates of the Naval School of Music in Washington, D. C., and many hold degrees in music from some of the nation's leading colleges and universities.

So, no matter what mode of music you prefer, from Bach to pop, chances are the Fourth Naval District Band can more than adequately fill the bill, the spokesman pointed out.

Living Costs Set Record

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Living costs edged up to an all-time high in May, the government reported today.

Higher prices were reported for all major categories of consumer spending, including food, clothing, housing, medical care and transportation.

The consumer price index, based on a 1947-49 price average of 100, rose one-tenth of a point from April to a May reading of 124.0, a new high.

Labor Department price chief H. E. Riley said the increase was seasonal and that "for all practical purposes" the stability living costs over the past year has not been broken.

The price index hit 123.9 in July 1958, which was a new high at that time.

The department also reported that take-home pay and buying power of factory workers climbed to new highs last month. Take-home pay averaged $81.03 for a worker with three dependents, about 9 per cent higher in dollars and purchasing power than a year ago.

Fair To Open—Minus Pat O'Brien

Movie star Pat O'Brien, who opens in "The Loud Red Patrick" at the Bristol Playhouse Tuesday, will not open at the St. Michael's Fair that day.

The actor will not get to Lower Bucks until late Monday night, in time for the show's Tuesday opening but not in time for the fair.

The Levittown fair will open on schedule Monday night at St. Michael's Church grounds, Levittown Parkway.

O'Brien's scheduled appearance at the fair to greet guests will be held later in the week, it was announced.

Won't Face Murder Rap

Becky's Strangler Found 'Disturbed'

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Edward J. Cooney, 15, who confessed strangling a three-year-old neighbor girl in the basement of his home when she resisted his advances, has been found emotionally disturbed and will not be tried for murder, District Attorney Victor H. Blanc said today.

Blanc said he would recommend the boy be kept under the jurisdiction of the Juvenile Division of Municipal Court, which would commit him to a state industrial school or to a mental institution.

Judge J. Sydney Hoffman committed the youth to the Pennsylvania Industrial School at Camp Hill for an indefinite term but at least until he is 21 years old.

Hoffman ordered Edward sent to a suitable institution for psychiatric treatment before he enters Camp Hill.

Psychiatrists asked to study Cooney by the court all agreed that the boy can be rehabilitated with proper treatment.

Dr. Nicholas G. Frignito, medical director of municipal court, reported that Edward has "remorse and intense guilt" for killing Becky, adding that although he has "superior intelligence" he has "poor judgment and lack of foresight."

Blanc said he was in complete agreement with the sentence. He said he strangled the girl when she resisted him as he tore off her clothing. He stuffed the body in a basement cabinet, but surrendered to police seven hours later after confessing the crime to a priest at his parish church.

Blanc's decision not to seek a murder conviction was in accord with the wishes of the victim's father, Anatol Wolf Holt, 31-year-old mathematician, who pleaded for "help rather than vengeance" for the boy.

In an open letter written during his hours of grief following the slaying, Holt said, "Had I caught the boy in the act, I would have wished to kill him."

"Now that there is no undoing of what is done, I only wish to help him. Let no feelings of cave-man vengeance influence us. Let us rather help him who did so human a thing."

Coyle was brought here after an extradition hearing in Wareham, Mass.

The suspect pleaded guilty there to six charges of kidnapping, robbery, and murderous assault but Massachusetts authorities held the charges in abeyance to await the outcome of the murder trial here.

Investigators said the Coyle brothers, who were sought in connection with a holdup shooting at a supermarket in Fair Haven, Mass., as well as the kidnapping of a LaSalle College student and a tavern robber here, had been hiding out in a three-room apartment around the corner from the scene of the murder.

The brothers had been existing on stolen milk and oatmeal, police said, and they left their hideout to steal milk on the morning Kane, who had been alerted for the milk thieves that had been plaguing the neighborhood, surprised them.

New Proposal

By Nikita Nixed By West

GENEVA (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev launched a new attempt to undercut Western rights in Berlin today. The Western foreign ministers here promptly turned down his proposal.

Khrushchev proposed to drop his immediate takeover time limit on Berlin if the West would give East Germany equal rights with West Germany in a peace treaty.

The Western ministers, after considering the new Red proposal for an hour, declared it raises "no new hopes."

Faced with Western determination to end the Geneva Big Four foreign ministers' parley unless Russia gives a positive answer to the West's last compromise offer, Khrushchev broached his plan in a Moscow speech.

Simultaneously, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko delivered a formal plan to the Western ministers at a secret Big Four session. The Westerners retired at once to study it and Khrushchev's speech.

Just before 4 p.m. (11 a.m. edt) Western spokesmen told newsmen here: "There is agreement that Gromyko has not accepted the Western (Berlin) proposal, even as a basis for negotiations."

Development Of Mill St. Dinner Topic

Development of the Mill Street business area will be the topic at a special dinner meeting of Bristol business and professional men Wednesday night at the Keystone Hotel, Bristol.

The meeting has been called by C. Donald Moyer and Harry Danner, vice presidents of the Bristol branches of the Philadelphia National Bank and Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Co.

Both Moyer and Danner are members of the Mill Street Bristol Businessmen's Association.

Moyer said this morning, "We want to stress the importance of having a higher percentage of members in the Mill Street shopping area."

The meeting will be informal, Moyer said.

Moyer reported the Mill Street association is sponsoring the meeting and will finance the dinner. Earlier, the meeting had been reported as a "dutch treat" affair.

According to Moyer, the development talk will be limited to the improvement of the Mill Street area and streets that serve as arteries to the shopping area.

Moyer said no borough-wide improvements are contemplated.

Cars Crash, Two Injured

A Newtown boy and a Tullytown girl were injured when a car in which they were riding as passengers collided with a vehicle driven by a Trenton man in Fairless Hills last night.

Alan Slack, 15, of 152 North State St., Newtown, was transported to Lower Bucks County Hospital by the Levittown - Fairless Hills Rescue Squad after the accident.

He was treated for lacerations of the head and knee and released after treatment.

The driver of his car was identified by Falls Township Patrolman John Lent as William H. Clapp Jr., 16, of Newtown.

Another passenger in the car, Beatrice Thomas, 14, of 383 Main St., Tullytown, was treated for cuts and released.

Police said Clapp and the other driver, J. A. Cugasi, 37, of Trenton, will each receive a summons for reckless driving.

The accident occurred at Oxford Valley and Andover Roads, Fairless Hills, at 6:35 p.m. a storm of controversy from bird-lovers of local and national groups. Johnson pointed out at that time that the shooting was the only practical way to handle the problem. Damage to the bridges, caused by pigeons, was amounting to large sums, according to Johnson.

In other business, the board heard a report from Chief Engineer Denzler, who stated that progress on the new Scudders Falls Bridge was "satisfactory."

Nearly Complete

According to Denzler, the structure of the bridge is nearly completed. The New Jersey abutment is almost finished except for two small concrete sections.

"At the rate, we're moving now," said Denzler, "and with 3 spans already erected, we should be able to put in one section per week." Denzler referred to the steel spans that stretch from pier to pier.

He added that the approach work portion of the project would be handled by the two states Highway departments.

It was also reported at the meeting that plans for the Pennsylvania approach have been drawn up by the Michael Baker, Jr., Consulting Engineering firm of Rochester, and are presently in the Pennsylvania Highway office in Haverford for study.

Parked Car Sideswiped In Nottingham Village

A parked car was sideswiped in Nottingham Village early this morning, Bensalem police reported.

The car was owned by Alfred Marks of 3723 Morrow Drive. Patrolman Patrick Meehan said Marks car was hit by a vehicle driven by Joseph Clark of 377 Windsor Drive, Nottingham Village.

Damage to Mark's car was estimated at $300, and damages to Clark's car was estimated at $250, Meehan said.

Charges against Clark are pending completion of investigation, the patrolman said.

Langhorne OK's Sewer Jointure

Officials from Langhorne Borough announced last night that the municipality would go along with plans for a joint sewage system with neighboring areas.

Langhorne officials attended a joint session with the Pennel Sewer Authority, and representatives of Pennel, Hulmeville, Falls and Middletown townships.

The Langhorne spokesmen said their borough would enter the joint sewer venture if the cost of the project is reasonable. Pennel, Hulmeville and Falls have already approved the jointure. Middletown may participate in the jointure.

George Fettes, chairman of the Pennel Authority, said construction of the interceptor sewer lines from the areas down to the Falls Township sewage treatment plant in Fergusonville, could begin within three to five months, if everyone agrees on the plan immediately.

Before final plans are closed, Lower Southampton Township will be contacted to see if a portion of that municipality could be included in the joint plans.

Natural Position

A portion of Lower Southampton lies in a natural drainage area for the lines down to the Falls plant, officials pointed out.

Costs of the project will be determined by engineering formulas and by the solicitors of each area, so a fair and equal cost factor can be agreed upon.

Latest reports, Fettes said, show savings can be made by a jointure.

The engineers' extended report will be ready for the July 16 meeting of the joint group, Fettes said.

John Collins, chairman of the Falls Township Authority, conducted the session after the regular monthly meeting of the Pennel Authority last night. The meeting was held in the Pennel Borough Hall.

The Pennel Authority will build an interceptor line to the existing Falls Township sewage treatment plant in Fergusonville on the Neshaminy Creek.

Costs would be cheaper to each municipality if the lines were extended to neighboring areas, and benefits received would be greater, Pennel officials pointed out.

Richard Gouge, 12, and his brother, Barry, 16, may not have a present for Dad on his day Sunday, but it won't be their fault.

The boys purchased a long-playing record the other day in Bargain City, Route 413. It was a LP of the Great Bands of the century. It was something they knew Dad would like.

But before they could get it home, they decided to try a couple of the small automatic coin games in the store. They placed the record on a bench and began to amuse themselves at the games. When they finished, they looked for the record but it was gone. Someone had apparently walked off with their Father's Day gift.

Dad may not have a gift Sunday but at least he knows he has two real boys. They meant well.

Another boy Dad can well be proud of Sunday is Skipper Whitman, 38 Pensive Lane, Levittown, who is six. Skipper went into Sun Ray in the Levittown Shopping Center and while he was shopping, he was looking.

Aside to Dad.

We sometimes forget to tell you how much we love you. We are too busy enjoying the fruits you have given us. But you know. You don't seek glory and power. You bathe only in our deeds and accomplishments. We hope to be worthy of you someday.

Considered Unfit For Classrooms

The Bristol Township School Board will dispose of four schools considered unfit for classes.

The board voted to sell three buildings with a total of 16 rooms and to turn a four-room building back to the Federal Government.

Two of the schools, the old Croydon and the old Edgely buildings, have not been used for classes for two years. The other two buildings, the Child Care and Community Schools in Bristol Terrace, were used up until last week.

However the state ruled that the school board would have to make extensive renovations or repairs to continue using the latter two for classes. The board decided this would be too costly and agreed to abandon them as schools.

Both were built by the government during World War II along with the Terrace housing projects.

The government still owns the Community building. The school board leases it. Now that it will no longer be used for classes the building will revert to the government.

Child Care Building

The Child Care building, with two class rooms, had been deeded to the school board and this is the building the directors voted to sell. It is located on a one acre lot.

The eight - room Croydon school was built in the early 1920s. The three - acre tract, on State Road at Emille Ave., was purchased in 1921 for $2,800. The building, discontinued as a school in 1957, has been used for storage and for offices of supervisors and other school administrative personnel.

The Croydon Branch of the Regional Public Library also occupies a room in the wooden structure.

The Edgely school, located on Route 13 near Edgely Ave., is actually two buildings. One was built in 1916. Abandoned by the school district, this building has been used in the past year by the Bucks County Child Development Center.

The second building was erected in 1927. Both buildings have a total of six rooms.

The school board at its last meeting voted to put the Edgely, Croydon and Child Care Schools in the hands of Frank Mignone real estate agency for sale.

Pre - Levittown School.

Disposal of these buildings and the conversion of the four - room William Penn School, Edgely, to a central administrative office suite will leave the Maple Shade Elementary School as the only pre-Levittown school in the township.

The original wing of Delhaas High School was built before 1952 when Levittown was started but this was destroyed in the February fire.

Since 1952 the school board has built 10 elementary schools, two of which will open for the first time in September; two junior high schools and the Woodrow Wilson High School which will also open this September. Besides the board has added to the Maple Shade building and more than doubled the size and facilities of Delhaas High School.

Well, like most six year old boys, he put his hand someplace it shouldn't be. Snack into an electric car, popping machine. Skipper's hand got stuck but it was released before he suffered any damages.

Mon was upset but Dad probably figured it's all part of being a boy.

And Dad can look with pride to the antics of Kenny, 9, and Susan Silcoski, 14, of 28 Elm Lane, Levittown. In the big wind storm earlier this week, a bird cage became a casualty near their home. They mixed a formula for baby cereal and milk and fed it to the young birds. And they didn't skip the 1 a.m. feeding either.

Aside to Dad.

We sometimes forget to tell you how much we love you. We are too busy enjoying the fruits you have given us. But you know. You don't seek glory and power. You bathe only in our deeds and accomplishments. We hope to be worthy of you someday.

Happy Father's Day.
